COUNCIL TO DIG INTO 'VITAL AREAS'

Miss Terry Kell tries Binospecs.

'Binospecs' Available For Very Little Effort

Everybody wants a front row seat at the ball game! For the first time, locally, eyeglass binoculars make this possible. The trick is a pair of Binospecs.

You wear Binospecs like eyeglasses and focus them like field glasses. Take 'em everywhere. Football games, outings, the theater, even dances.

These spectator glasses are loads of fun, the newest rage with teen-agers and adults, too, and best of all, they can be yours free.

All you need to do is get a NEW subscriber to this newspaper. The cost of the paper is $2.50 for a full year. Bring the $2.50 to the office of the Homeland Publishing Company at 7843 Lester Avenue, Lemon Grove, and the Binospecs are yours.

For those who already subscribe to this newspaper, a two-year advance payment ($5) makes the Binospecs yours.

In case of question call Mrs. Williams at the newspaper office, HOpkins 9-0101, and she'll tell you whether or not your prospect is new.

There's no limit to the number of Binospecs you may have. Get enough for all your friends and your family too. They're made of heavy plastic with good quality magnifying lenses.

Sailor Killed As Car Smashes Into Big Tree

A sailor who was a convalescent patient at Navy Hospital was killed on "that bad curve" on Campo Road, just west of Rogers Road, in Spring Valley early Saturday morning.

The California Highway Patral said that the driver, Charles Lee Mattern, 19, was traveling west in a two door sedan, attempted to make the sharp curve, overshot and hit a big eucalyptus tree.

Patrolmen said that the impact knocked the car body and frame apart and threw the engine out of the car.

He was pronouced dead at the scene by Deputy Coroner R. L. Creason.

Deputy Coroner Creason said that Mattern underwent an appendectomy at Navy Hospital three weeks ago and had been convalescing there ever since.

Richard Ribley, a resident of the area at the scene of the crash, said that the youth's body was so badly mangled that it hardly was recognizable as human. He said that it was his opinion that Mattern hadn't even attempted to apply the brakes and had hit the tree at a "terrific speed."

Dog Licenses Due, County Man Says

All dogs in the unincorporated area of San Diego must be licensed after attaining the age of four months, E. R. Quortrup, director of the county livestock department, said this week.

He remind dog owners that licenses were due on January 1 and become delinquent on February 15, after which there is a penalty.

Quortrup said that checks for $2 can be mailed to the Tax Collector, Civic Center, San Diego 10, with the owner's name and address and description of the animal.

BONDS SOLD

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday sold $450,000 of 1959 Series B Bonds of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District to the Bank of America. The bank made the best bid of four, with an interest rate of 4.4833 per cent to be charged for the 25-year issue. Interest will total $377,051 over the term of the bonds.

Students Deep In Examinations, Term Papers

Mount Miguel students are in the throes of end-of-the-semester examinations, term papers, projects, and—for sophomores—the Iowa Tests of Educational Development.

Examinations for those students who are in the college prep and honor courses consist of both essay and objective exams; for those in applied arts, only the objective exam is required. The last examinations are scheduled for next Wednesday since January 29 is the last day of the current semester.

Students will be excused from classes on Monday, Feb. 1, as teachers will be placing grades on report cards during the entire day. Semester report cards will be mailed to the homes of Miguel students after all grades have been recorded.

New semester classes will convene on Tuesday, Feb. 2. All students will be expected to be in attendance for the opening day of the semester. Counselors have arranged program changes to become effective on Feb. 2 for those students who have requested them.

Vandals Smash Equipment, Safe At Helix High

Sledge Hammer Used To Wreck Offices In Money Search

A safe, furniture and equipment at Helix High School were wrecked last weekend by vandals apparently in search of money.

Benton Hart, principal said that W. G. Sperling, head custodian, discovered the damage Sunday morning.

La Mesa police officer Edward Stotler said that the vandals:

Broke a pane in a door to get into the metal and auto shop;

Ransacked offices, chopped up and broke cabinets and drawers and scattered papers over the floors;

Broke into the print shop and chopped up furniture and poured printer's ink over shelves and equipment;

Smashed their way into the library where they took a small amount of change from a desk;

Broke into the main school offices where they smashed a metal and concrete safe and filing cabinet and tore up several vending machines to get at the coin boxes.

Police said that the vandals used a hatchet, which they apparently brought with them, and a small sledge hammer which they obtained in the auto shop.

Housewife Bailed Out of Jail; Lets Court Keep Money

A Lemon Grove housewife arrested on a charge of making an improper turn in traffic forfeited $11 in bail Tuesday by failing to show up in San Diego's traffic court.

The housewife, Mrs. Carolyn Pacl, 26, of 1621 Angelus Ave., was booked in San Diego jail Monday after she refused to sign a traffic citation giving her promise to appear in court at a future date.

Her two children, Lawrence, 5, and Dennis, 3, were taken to the Hillcrest Receiving Home. The family dog, Skippy, went to the dog pound. The family station wagon was locked and left at El Cajon Boulevard and Alice Street where Patrolman Dan R. Norton had stopped Mrs. Pacl to give her the citation.

Norton said that Mrs. Pacl refused to sign the ticket because: she could not appear on the specified date, her husband (a Navy lieutenant) would be at sea on that date, she was innocent, she didn't have the $11 bail to post in lieu of court appearance, and "I can't win anyway."

She was bailed out of city jail Monday night about 9 p.m. on payment of $11 after Lt. Pacl phoned the police station to find out what had happened to her.

Scheduled to appear in traffic court Tuesday afternoon, she failed to appear. Court officials said the bail would be forfeited and the case marked "closed."

Unloved Skunk Roused from Washing Machine

A Lemon Grove woman who discovered a skunk in her automatic washing machine Monday says that she will keep the machine but the clothes she washed that afternoon may have to go.

The woman, Mrs. Betty Cooper, 390 Cates Ave., discovered the skunk when she took a load of clothes to the garage. She called her husband, John. He called the Humane Society.

The men from the society, using lettuce as bait, lured the animal out of the machine.

"I think I will keep the machine," Mrs. Cooper said. "It already smells a little better and maybe the smell will go away.

"But those clothes I washed—well, they don't smell so good."

'Happy Decade,' Says Heggland To Men's Club

County Official Makes Predictions For Next 10 Years

"Happy New Decade," said T. M. Heggland last Friday as he addressed the Lemon Grove Men's Club.

Heggland, chief administrative officer for San Diego County, outlined the administration's predictions for the coming 10 years as far as the county is concerned.

"We will have plenty of problems," he said, "but they will be problems caused by progress and growth. And it is much better to have that kind of problem than be plagued by the problems created by a decline."

He said that any predictions must necessarily be subject to change. "In the past," he said, "we have found that the future is here long before we thought it would be."

Among Heggland's predictions for the coming decade:

The county's population will rise from its present one million persons to half again as many people: 1,500,000.

The county government will conduct a "terrific" building program. The courthouse now under construction will be inadequate even before it is completed.

New branch centers for county government will be needed in such places as Vista, Ramona and Borrego.

County land holdings will shrink, but the county will have more honor camps, more juvenile facilities, more branch libraries.

The county will lose much of its road area to municipalities, but the county costs of maintenance will rise.

Civil defense will be county wide, county operated.

Community services for urban areas (sewerage, etc.) will be expanded on a contract basis.

The county will enter further into the field of mental health and juvenile delinquency prevention.

The county's governmental organization structure will be simplified.

"Unfortunately," Heggland concluded, "as local government gets bigger, the cost of operating that government rises all out of proportion. As a community grows larger and people live closer together, they need services that they had no use for when they lived farther apart. And these things cost money."

He admitted that "it hurts to pay taxes," but said that San Diego County has the third lowest tax rate per capita of the 58 California counties.

Mt. Miguel Team Takes Speech Honors

Mount Miguel High School's speech team swept top honors at the Toastmasters' International open competition last week.

Bud Carey, sophomore, took first place with an extemporaneous talk on anti-Semitism. The commissioning of the Polaris-type submarine George Washington provided material for Allan Lachman's second-place speech, "The Watch is Set"; Lachman is a senior at Mt. Miguel. Senior Steve Tamila took a third place with an extemporaneous talk about automation.

Carey will compete Friday at a district tournament at 7 p.m. at the Lafayette Hotel.

The DIMMER VIEW

by MAX GOODWIN

The State of California Legislative Assembly Interim Committee on Municipal and County Government met in San Diego last week to review the rules by which political self-determination is given, or denied.

Daniel J. Curtin, Jr., committee consultant, asked us to aid the hearings by supplying a representative who could give a factual report of community political background.

William Parker, past president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce was our representative, and a splendid job he did, too. He reported, quite properly, that Lemon Grove's attempts to decide its own political future was interferred with by neighboring communities.

The first interference from outsiders came in 1953 when Lemon Grove residents were trying to decide whether or not the community should have a unified school district. This excited other elementary school districts within the framework of the Grossmont High School District and resident members of the districts flooded this community with propaganda obviously designed to confuse the issue. It was a professional job of campaigning from the outside and the issue lost at the polls.

The area's first attempt at incorporation which came in 1955 was met with more outside interference. The City of San Diego through the office of one of its officials, produced professional, if not completely factual material which successfully obstructed the movement. The local proponents were amateurs who wanted nothing more than adequate self government tailored to a growing community's needs. The professional material was so adroit and strongly worded that it left the impression that the proponents were dishonest. There are still scores of neighbors here who do not speak because of the result of the material emanating from outside.

Again in 1958 incorporation was attempted and it failed. As before, well organized material was made available from the city and it was distributed widely. Amid confusing charges and countercharges, the issue failed again.

A San Diego-sponsored attempt to get an annexation move started was traced to the San Diego City Hall in 1959. The new city manager, George Bean, was shocked at our charges and said that such operations were not in line with city policy, and

Pupils To Get Holiday While Teachers Work

Pupils of the Lemon Grove School District will enjoy a school holiday, Monday, more than usual as they realize that the teachers will be working long, hard hours at the annual Professional Growth Day. A full schedule of talks, demonstrations, and visitations fills the program for 143 members of the certificated staff.

The morning session offers several programs for teachers from kindergarten through the eighth grade. Among the activities listed are junior high teacher visitations to Helix and Mount Miguel high schools, observation of creative writing classes in El Cajon with discussions following the demonstration, and a primary science demonstration at Monterey Heights School. Also an instructional practice in arithmetic is offered at Visa La Mesa School, along with a workshop on art and painting at Palm Avenue School.

Two outstanding speakers address the general assembly of the staff in the afternoon. Loyd V. Prante, principal of Northridge Junior High in Los Angeles, will speak on "Eat Your Apple Now." A veteran speaker with over 2,600 addresses to his credit, Prante has served 32 years in school administration.

Dr. Robert Nardelli will discuss trends in education. He serves as principal of the Campus Laboratory School at San Diego State College and has been active as a writer and speaker throughout this area.

Following the speakers, the local administrators and their wives will honor teachers with a tea at San Miguel School, scene of the afternoon activities. Mrs. Evelyn Lauritzen is general chairman of the Professional Growth Day program, assisted by Robert Sutton, Dorothy Pavlovec, Gladys Jones, Marjorie Luedke, Cecelia Lantz, Dorothy Geissler, Seymour Metzner and Alice Hacker.

Coordinators Name New Council Officers

Eye Plans for Routing Energy Of Community In One Direction

The Lemon Grove Coordinating Council elected officers Monday night and began plans for "digging into new areas of vital concern to the community."

The Rev. E. Walter Smith was reelected president of the council. Mrs. James Martin, housewife and recent candidate in the recreation district election, was named vice president.

Mrs. Ava Diederich was named second vice president; Rush Rowley, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Lee Nottingham, Dr. Robert Burns and Arthur Thomas, advisors.

Rev. Smith suggested that with the "new year" the council should concern itself with "getting all the energies of the various organizations in Lemon Grove channeled in the same direction."

"We're all going around in our own little circles," he said, "and we need to find areas of vital concern where we all can move in the same direction."

Mrs. Diederich urged that the council not accept the defeat of the recent proposal to establish a recreation district as proof that there is no need for recreation in Lemon Grove.

"It was apathy that defeated the plan," she said, "not opposition."

She suggested that the council reassess the community's needs and work toward some other solution.

Other suggested plans for community effort will be studied by the council's executive board and submitted to the council for action. Suggestions made at Monday's meeting included:

Getting teenage representatives of youth organizations into the council;

Setting up a coordinated welfare activities office (some grocery stores have offered to supply foods that cannot be sold because of damage to the package. The Junior Woman's Club is studying smilar organizations elsewhere and will submit a report);

Providing instructions to adults and children about caution with strangers who accost them;

Analyzing the zoning in Lemon Grove and making recommendations to avoid "destruction of the core of the community" because of the decay of the permanent-resident atmosphere.

Setting up a community forum at council meetings;

Taking into the citizens' hands the actual work of building a park adjacent to the swimming pool site at Washington and Mt. Vernon.

Rain Delays Parking Area Resurface Job

Resurfacing of the parking area on the north side of Broadway between Imperial and Grove was delayed this week due to rain.

Mrs. Tom Carlton, chamber of commerce director who heads the committee for the improvement, said that the work has been rescheduled by R. Speaks Contracting Co. for January 31.

Mrs. Carlton said Mr. Speaks had offered to fill the pot holes in the area as an interim measure. He offered to do this job without cost, she said.

The holes will be filled this week as soon as the weather permits, she said.

Grove Youth Cited For Heroism in Japanese Typhoon

A Lemon Grove youth returned home on leave from his Coast Guard station this week bearing a commendation for heroic action in a typhoon which swept across Japan recently.

Gordon J. Perfect, 1958 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Perfect, 2057 El Prado, Lemon Grove, will spend part of a 60-day leave visiting his family.

He has been assigned to a Loran station on Miyako, Japan. After his leave, he will be stationed in the Seattle district.

Perfect was cited for "devotion to duty" and for "humanitarian effort" by the commander of the 14th Coast Guard District, Honolulu; the commander of the Far East Section, Tokyo, and by his own commanding officer.

He and his shipmates were on Miyako Jima when Typhoon Sarah swept across the island with winds up to 185 miles an hour. The typhoon ripped out the station's antenna and scattered it across the island. The Coast Guardsmen rigged an emergency antenna and sent emergency messages during the height of the storm.

They hand-bailed water out of the power plant, restored full power within 23 hours, and aided the villagers from Bora by transporting the seriously wounded to a hospital over roads that had to be cleared of fallen trees.

Perfect later was injured in an accident and spent five weeks in a hospital.

Farm Bureau Studies Dog Control Law

A special committee of the San Diego County Farm Bureau, urging the compulsory vaccinating of all dogs against rabies, is studying a proposed county dog control ordinance.

The ordinance is due to come before the County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday.

Directors of the Farm Bureau, meeting last week, indicated that they favor the vaccinating of all dogs. Action came after Dr. Martin Goetz, county veterinarian, said that an epidemic of rabies now occuring in Imperial County and across the border in Mexicali might spread to this county.

Licensing and vaccination of all dogs may be necessary, he said.

CHANGE ASKED

SAN DIEGO (CNS)—An application for a zone change for three and a fifth acres in Spring Valley will be the subject of a public hearing Friday morning before the County Planning Commission. Darwin G. Rappold and Forrest L. Potter head a group of property owners asking apartment house zoning for two separate areas on San Juan Street, near Casa de Oro Boulevard.

NEW PRESIDENT — Larry Folda, left, is congratulated on being installed as president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, succeeding William Parker. Congratulatory hand is offered by Chamber director V. J. Dorman. Folda was installed at annual dinner of the group at Bowlero cafe.

High School Trustees Reaffirm 'Junior College First' Policy

Noting that "discussion of the highly controversial problem of school district organization would not give the junior college problem the separate consideration which it deserves," the board of trustees of the Grossmont High School District has gone on record as insisting that the fate of a junior college district should be decided before the problem of setting up a unified elementary school district is discussed.

The high school board reaffirmed a policy statement made nearly three years ago on the same question. The statement, adopted in March, 1957, read:

"1. We believe the problem of school district organization is separate and distinct from the need for a junior college. Unless more agreement can be developed on school reorganization than is now apparent, to link the two problems, may only serve to delay provision of junior college educational opportunity for the youth of the District.

"2. Unification is a more desirable and efficient form of school district organization than the one we now have which divides the administration of the educational program into two levels.

"3. Every effort should be made to establish a basis for agreement on reorganization to avoid development of controversy between districts which could wipe out the gains possible through unification or other reorganization.

"4. While the Grossmont Board believes that one unified school district might be the most efficient form of reorganization for this area, it is willing to consider other proposals which will assure the best educational opportunities for all the children and youth throughout the Grossmont District.

"5. In consideration of the above policy, the Grossmont Board is ready to participate and cooperate fully with the San Diego County Committee on School District Organization and the elementary districts concerned."

The action was taken after study and consideration of a petition to the County Committee on School District Organization signed by 10 citizens of the Grossmont Union High School District requesting that the problem of school district organization be merged with the junior college study. The petitioners were represented at the meeting by Roger Winchester and Hart Dunham, both members of the Grossmont Citizens' Advisory Committee.

The board's action was based upon a belief that introduction of the highly controversial problem of school district organization would not give the junior college problem the separate consideration which it deserves. Superintendent Lewis F. Smith stated that the junior college issue should be decided by citizens on the basis of three questions: What services are provided by a junior or community college? Are these services needed? and, How much will it cost? The Board's position was that when the people are informed on these questions, they then should be permitted to decide whether a junior college program should be established in the district.

High School Students Invited to Enter National Essay Contest

Junior and senior students at Mt. Miguel, Helix and Grossmont high schools will participate this year in a national essay contest, according to Tom Warburton, assistant superintendent of the Grossmont High School District.

Eleventh and twelfth grade students who attend high school in San Diego County have been invited to enter the Twelfth National Essay Contest of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

According to Dr. Ernest B. O'Byrne, vice president of San Diego State College and local contest chairman, prizes will be awarded on nation, state and local levels.

Nationally there are five prizes of $1,000, $400, $300, $200, and $100. State prizes of $100, $75, $50 and $25 will be awarded. Locally there will be two first prizes of $50, one to the winning student attending public or private high school within the San Diego City School District, and one for the winning student outside the city area. In addition there are two local prizes of $25, four of $10 four of $5, and additional certificates of merit.

O'Bryne said that local winners would qualify for state competition, and that state winners in turn would be entered in the national event. The five top national winners will receive free trips to Washington, D.C., for award ceremonies.

In past years the President of the United States has personally presented the top awards.

Theme for this year's contest is, "Jobs for the Handicapped—Passports to Dignity."

Contest rules specify a length of 1,200 words or less. The local deadline is February 5.

O'Byrne said that for 12 consecutive years the contest has been the only government-sponsored essay contest approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and the National Catholic Education Association.

He asked that 11th and 12th graders interested in the contest secure additional information either by contacting him, Ernest B. O'Bryne, San Diego State College, San Diego 15; or by inquiring at the office of their own high school principal or talking to their teachers.

Helix to Have Foreign Exchange Student

Helix High School, as part of the American Field Service, will have a foreign exchange student next year, according to Benton Hart, principal.

The ATS places students from more than 45 foreign countries in American secondary schools. Mt. Miguel High School pioneered the plan in this area.

A Helix student will not be placed in a foreign country during the 1960-61 school year, but one selected Helix junior will spend six weeks abroad in the summer program of 1961.

Students are selected on the basis of a strong academic record, at least two years of a foreign language, participation in school activities, and personality.

Eight hundred dollars will be needed to bring one student to Helix. The Helix Senior Class has made an advance pledge of $150. The Helix Girl's League also will participate.

Junior College, Elementary School District Separate Issues, Says Hegland

(Editor's Note—We asked Assemblyman Sheridan Hegland of La Mesa to comment on the junior college situation in the Foothills area)

By Sheridan Hegland
Member, State Legislature

Your article on the junior college recently was excellent. For some time in Sacramento I have opposed compulsory unification. As you pointed out, local control of schools is essential. The Lemon Grove Elementary School District, moreover, ranks high and does a good job.

The junior college issue is separate and distinct from the question of unification. We need a junior college and we need it now.

If we do not get a junior college quickly, thousands of Foothill youngsters now in grades seven through eleven may well be denied any chance for any kind of college education.

Junior colleges give taxpayers a break. Average taxpayer cost per student per year at the University is $1,100 up. At State Colleges, about $850. At junior colleges, about $500.

Moreover junior colleges save parents money. Youngsters are able to live at home and save boarding and room costs. Also, youngsters going to school near home have better opportunities to hold part-time jobs.

Over the years, entrance requirements have become more difficult at State Colleges. There is presently a proposal that these requirements be made even stiffer, a proposal personally I will oppose. But in any event, State Colleges are becoming more and more crowded.

On the other hand, we can look forward to additional State financial support for junior colleges. In other words, I am urging the construction as rapidly as possible of a junior college in both the Grossmont and Sweetwater areas.

if it was happening, it would be stopped . . . and it was.

At last week's meeting it was Assemblyman Sheridan Hegland, himself a member of the Interim Committee, who accused San Diego of "grabbing off the College Grove Shopping Center" making incorporation here just that much less feasible.

Parker had offered a couple of splendid suggestions for giving this, and other communities a fairer shake. First he commended Hegland's proposed Assembly Bill which would give a choice of annexation, incorporation or remaining as is at a single election. "Previously, Parker said, "when one issue is proposed, the two alternates find enough backers who band together to defeat it. It is in this area where outside influence becomes fantastically effective."

A multiple choice election would let each of the issues stand in its own merits.

Parker said a 10 per cent petition should be the motivating force. The two year's limitation on elections would avert capriciousness, he said. Finally, the county should pay for all such elections. The Bradley-Burns sales tax money is not returned to the area in which it is collected as it is in cities. This appears to be a proper expense of county government, he said.

Assemblyman Hegland then spelled it out regarding "outside interference." He said protection was needed by areas seeking incorporation in competition with large cities. "My own district had to compete with professionals from the City of San Diego," he said.

Several years ago San Diego took the highly assessed business district along El Cajon Boulevard and left the school children for La Mesa," Hegland charged.

"San Diego came out to Lemon Grove where an incorporation attempt was under way and grabbed off the College Grove Shopping Center and left much less with which Lemon Grove could run a city," Hegland said.

In all, the Committee heard a tawdry story of political interference and intrigue.

We have a feeling that the hearing had a salutary effect upon possibilities of fair elections in the future, and Mssrs. Parker and Hegland did themselves proud in bringing the story before the Legislative Committee.

A novel, titled "The Ugly American" was published in 1958. It ridiculed the U.S. State Department regarding the actions of its ambassadorial representatives in Southeast Asia. The novel nettled State Department officials to the point where they have denounced the book, almost as if it had been published as a documentary.

The book was announced as being fiction, the preface explained that it was fictitious and suggested anyone taking exception to the yarn might be suffering from an ailment of his conscience.

The story is a rather simple one. It tells how some executive members of the diplomatic service, so overcome by their own importance have alienated people in the country they serve by their crudity, crassness and stupidity. It is a humorous story, steeped in the kind of macabre humor that results from seeing a millionaire bilked, or seeing an expert make an everyday-type of mistake.

A chapter I particularly remember in the book concerns the unloading of a boatload of rice for the sick and starving people of Sarkhan. The rice was a gift of the American people following a Sarkhan typhoon. So aloof from the natives and sc tyricannical to members of his embassy staff had the American diplomat become that he had lost the human touch, and had lost touch with humans. Communists taking advantage of the loss of communications between the ambassador and the people serving him, contrived to get fellow-travelers signed up to unload the rice and weigh it. Every bag of American-given rice dropped on the scales for weighing, was stenciled. It was weeks later that the diplomat learned that the message, stenciled in Sarhhanese, a language neither he nor his staff had ever learned to read said "gift of Russia."

Following publication of the book the State Department began to show that many Russian diplomats assigned to undeveloped nations, didn't know the language and refused to mix with natives.

Against this backdrop, Senator Stuart Symington (D-Missouri) introduced a bill in Congress proposing a Foreign Service Academy. His philosophy was later picked up by Senator Albert Gore (D-Tennessee), U.S. Representative Sullivan (D-Missouri), and Senator Vance Hartke (D.-Indiana). They urged that Symington's recommendation for a West Point for the Diplomatic corps be put into being right away.

Symington said that nine out of ten Russians in the diplomatic service spoke the language of the country to which he was assigned. In "The Ugly American," the central figures spoke only American, fraternized only with English speaking people and tolerated natives only as domestics and laborers.

If the State Department's spokesmen are correct in its insistance that "The Ugly American" is born of a lie; has no basis in fact, and was written only to ridicule the Foreign Service, it then becomes a Congressional oddment that for the first time, legislation is being proposed to correct a condition that the State Department says exists only in fiction.

California State Senator Hugo Fisher has called area Democrats together for a meeting to be held later this month in what he calls an "Issues Conference."

As high-sounding as is the title, just as ambitious is the program. He listed five subjects upon which he thinks Democrats can make hay this year. He says these are disarmament, foreign policy, inflation, acreage limitation, and grain surpluses.

Senator Fisher takes a "down-to-earth" approach in presenting these problems to local Democrats. This is revealed in his secondary questions relating to each of the five major issues.

These issues are national, rather than partisan, and are listed here.

1. Foreign Policy.

What price tag do we put on our help to other countries? Can we work with Communists, Dictators, Socialists? Should we demand certain minimum cooperation from underdeveloped nations such as minimum democracy, a rational economic program?

2. Inflation.

List some articles on which the price has risen in recent weeks. Why do you think these prices went up? What should be done about it?

3. Acreage Limitation.

Is acreage limitation a just method of assuring an equitable distribution of irrigation water from State, Federal projects.

4. Disarmament.

Is disarmament technically feasible? How can it be supervised? To what would nations turn for protection if they were disarmed?

5. Surplus Grain.

How to dispose of 750,000.000 bushels of surplus wheat. Throw it on the world market? Give it to India and other hunger and famine ravaged nations? Let it pile up in storage?

If just one of these five issues can be developed into a program that eventually brings a solution to the problem, the nation would owe Senaor Fisher and his group a deep debt of gratitude.

These, incidentally, are the same issues the Republicans have been tackling since Eisenhower came into office.

HONORED — Monty W. Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dickinson of 7526 Madison, Lemon Grove, has been selected for the 1960 listing of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." A senior business management major at San Diego State College, he was Associated Students commissioner of finance, Interfraternity Council treasurer, chairman of the finance committee and Sigma Chi vice president. Selections are made on the basis of participation in extra-curricular and academic activiites, citizenship and services to the school, scholarship, and promise of future usefulness to business and society. The selections are carried out on a national scale with numerous benefits, including aid in job placement, being provided for those selected.

Householders To Get Advance Census Forms

Householders in this area will soon receive an Advance Census Report form, a new census-taking device designed to speed up census-taking to start here in April.

Headquarters for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing will be at the Census Bureau's regional office Entrance 13 Broadway Pier, Second Landing, San Diego.

Holt W. Bradford, supervisor of the district office, said he will put a force in the field consisting of 800 census takers and 50 crew leaders.

Nationally, 160,000 enumerators, 10,000 crew leaders and 400 district supervisors, all temporary workers, are required to do the job. The district supervisors are under the general direction of permanent regional field directors and are responsible for all phases of the census in their districts.

The Advance Form contains basic questions designed to give the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit.

How many dependents can you claim?

Each dependent must meet all five of the following conditions:

1. A dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1959.

2. Dependent did not have over $600 income in 1959, unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if over 19 years of age, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn any amount as long as you actually provide over one-half of the cost of support.

3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.

4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, The Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.

5. Dependent must be closely related to you or be anyone else who meets requirements 1, 2, 3 and 4 above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

If the dependent has worked part time and earned less than $600 in 1959 or was your child under 19 or over 19 and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent, provided, of course, that dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

Flu Infection On Way Out At High School

The local flu epidemic is on the wane, Principal Mel Grant of Mt. Miguel High School reported Wednesday.

He said absences due to illness had dropped to six per cent Wednesday. It was nine per cent Tuesday. It was fourteen per cent as the week ended Friday. The school population is 2,150.

Grant said staff illness had increased. Last week five per cent of the staff was off. This week illness accounts for nine per cent being absent.

Since students come from all areas of the community it is a good indication that the epidemic is on the way out over the entire area, he said.

Giant Water Plant To Be Constructed South of La Presa

SAN DIEGO (CNS)—Construction of a $1,500,000 filtering, pumping station and storage area between La Presa and Sunnyside, in the extreme south end of Spring Valley, is set to start in February.

This was revealed this week, in the calling of a public hearing Friday morning before the County Planning Commission on a special use permit sought by California Water and Telephone Co.

The company is seeking a permit for an operation to process 25 million gallons of water daily, with storage facilities for 10 million gallons.

The new facilities are to be located on land owned by California Water and Telephone, alongside the water line of the County Water Authority. The property, north of the dam of the Sweetwater Reservoir, is in the area bounded by Alpine Avenue, Lakeview Boulevard and Atwater Street.

The application for the permit was signed by A. Poulter, division manager for California Water and Telephone. Poulter declared, when asked for details of the project, that it was expected that construction would take about a year. He also said that the new facilities would take care of needs of the area served by the county for the foreseeable future.

The company serves the Chula Vista, National City, Sweetwater Valley, Castle Park and adjoining South Bay communities.

Plans for expanding facilities have been under preparation for almost a year. No opposition to the special use permit is anticipated at the hearing to be held by the planning commission.

Favorable commission action is expected, in view of the fast-growing South Bay population, with the resulting need for ample water supplies. The growth of subdivisions and other housing throughout the company's service area has placed a severe strain on existing means of supplying water.

Completion of the new line of the County Water Authority adding new means of bringing in Colorado River water, is aiding all county growth with its increased water potential.

Grove Barber, Wife To Sell Everything, Tour European Area

By Max Goodwin

The dreams of European travel are coming true for a Lemon Grove barber and his wife.

Eli Jenkins, who has operated a barber shop at 3364 Main Street, Lemon Grove, for the past ten years, and his wife are packing their travel gear to tour the British Isles and the European continent for a year and a half "or until our money gives out," he said. When he returns he plans to start business life in a different field all over again.

The sale of his barber shop will help finance the trip but the couple are selling their home at 4549 Culbertson Street in La Mesa, too.

"We wanted to make the European trip since our trip to Mexico City in 1940," Jenkins' trim, attractive wife Patsy said. "We read travel magazines and studied maps so we know the areas we want to visit," she said.

"We hope to visit the off-the-beaten-path places," Jenkins said. "We plan to stay at boarding houses, or live in furnished rooms and do our own cooking whenever possible."

Mrs. Jenkins said they planned to do a lot of walking, a lot of talking, and a lot of looking before returning home.

"Then I plan to start business life over again," Jenkins said, "but I'll probably go into the real estate business instead of barbering when we come back."

Jenkins will stay at the shop until the end of the month, he said.

"We'll send you a copy of a British newspaper while we're away," Mrs. Jenkins told the reporter.

The Jenkins' dream is a common one. Few have the courage to make such dreams come true.

Once Over Lightly

by Don Wilson

"Well," I said, sliding my chair back from the dinner table, "that was a pretty good dinner and now I must get ready for my poetry class."

"Poetry class?" Paula said. "I thought that class ended last week."

(I have been attending a university extension course in modern poetry.)

"Well," I said, "it did, really, but we decided to meet just one more time and everybody will read some of his own poetry to the class."

"But tonight is the PTA meeting, Paula said, "and Katy has been expecting you to go with her because this is Dad's Night."

"But my poetry class!" I protested.

"You can be late," Paula said. "Go to the PTA meeting and after it is over, go to the poetry class."

"That would be sort of odd," I said, "me showing up to read my poetry after all the others have read theirs. They might think that I didn't want to hear their poetry."

"That would be better," Paula said, "than having Katy think that you don't want to go with her to Dad's Night."

"Well, okay," I said, "I'll go to the PTA meeting."

A while later, Katy asked if I would help her with some homework.

"Aren't we going to the PTA meeting?" I asked.

"I thought you didn't want to go," Katy said, "so I decided to do my homework."

"Of course I want to go," I said, inwardly hoping that she'd talk me out of it.

"Okay," she said, laying down her pencil and paper and reaching for her jacket.

So I put on my coat and hat and got the flashlight from the kitchen drawer. We decided to walk, because we live only a couple of blocks from school.

"Where's the meeting?" I asked.

"At the junior high school," Katy said.

So we walked over to the junior high school. The cafetorium, where PTA meetings usually are held, was dark. Nobody there.

"Maybe they're having the meeting over at my school," Katy said. We looked and we could see some lights, so we walked over there.

The lights were in a couple of rooms where only two janitors were.

"Where's the PTA meeting?" I asked.

"I don't know," one janitor said. "Is there a PTA meeting tonight? They usually hold them at the junior high." He pointed over that way.

Katy and I explained that we had been over there and there was nobody there.

"Beats me," the janitor said.

So Katy and I walked back home. There, I asked to see the notice about the meeting. Paula handed it to me.

We had been two days early for the meeting.

"Okay," said Paula, "so I read the date wrong. You still have time to go to your class."

I gathered up my materials and went out to the car. I turned on the ignition switch and pushed the starter button.

Nothing.

The battery was dead.

"Nuts!" I said.

I spent the evening watching television.

WARM YEAR

The year 1959 was the second warmest in the past 43, so far as sea surface temperatures at La Jolla were concerned. The average temperature was 65.0 degrees Fahrenheit. The year 1931 was the warmest, with an average of 65.3 degrees. Sea-surface temperatures have been measured daily at Scripps for 43 years. Air temperatures in San Diego, which have been measured for more than 100 years, showed 1959 as the warmest in history.

The Mail Box

Dear Editor:

The United Fund of San Diego County last month successfully concluded its campaign to raise "three million dollars plus" to support the programs and services provided by 97 of our county's vital health, welfare, and social service agencies.

While this does not provide all the money United Fund agencies feel they could use to serve the communities more fully, it nonetheless marks the first time in its three-year history that the United Fund has raised its goal. There are many factors responsible for this but one of the most important ones certainly must be the outstanding support given this great countywide effort by newspapers such as yours.

Therefore, we are writing to express our gratitude for this invaluable help you gave the United Fund and its agencies. We would also like to thank you on behalf of the thousands of men, women, and children in our county who daily make use of the program and services provided by these agencies.

Sincerely yours,
Jack L. Lovejoy

HEALING POWER

LOS ANGELES (Special)—"The Healing Power of Gratitude" will be the subject of a Christian Science program to be given on CBS Radio "Church of the Air" series, in cooperation with the Christian Science Church on Sunday, January 31, at 7:30 a.m. over Radio Station KNX (1080 kc).

GOD'S PROMISE CITED IN SERMON

"The Lord will command his lovingkindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life" (Psalms 42:8). These words are the Golden Text of the Lesson Sermon on "Life" to be presented in all Churches of Christ Scientist, this Sunday. The Scriptural pledge given by the beloved disciple, John, "And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life," is the closing Bible selection (I John 2:25).

LET US ALL PRAY TOGETHER AS A FAMILY

New Beginnings — Most things for which we will spend much time, energy and money this year will pass by the way. But that which we will spend to bring the reality of Jesus the Savior into our lives will endure for eternity.

Narcotics Expert To Address Church Meeting Sunday

Henry B. Hall

Henry B. Hall, official of the Narcotic Educational Foundation of America, will be guest speaker at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services next Sunday at the Lemon Grove Methodist Church.

He will discuss crime prevention as part of a church-wide study on contemporary social problems.

According to the Rev. Donald B. Cooke, minister of the church, this will be a document ed presentation that draws upon resources of almost every official agency concentrating on the narcotic fight. The facts that Hall has brought together reveal a condition that could well bring the United States to its downfall, Rev. Cooke said. There is a victim of narcotics today every 40 seconds. Everyone is paying for the high cost of welfare and treatment, he said, with the total expenditures running into the billions.

Hall is a graduate of the U. S. Treasury Department's Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School and enjoyed the distinction of being valedictorian of his class. Working in the field of prevention, he has been in narcotic work for over twenty-five years. His first programs were approved by the Los Angeles School District in 1936. He has spoken in schools and colleges from Montana to Texas. During 1959, he addressed audiences from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast.

Hall has talked to addicts of all ages, in jails and in alleys. He has listened to parents and consulted with legislators. He has worked with doctors and has studied with officials. He has created aids for police and worked on motion pictures for the public. The Lemon Grove Methodist Church at Washington and Golden is inviting members and guests to hear Hall at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services this coming Sunday.

Baptist Church Notes

"Assassin of Youth," a sound film on an expose of the increasing traffic in "reefers" (doped cigarettes), will be shown this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Casa de Oro Baptist Church. Ministers, law enforcement officers and other officials say the picture is one of the outstanding ones on the subject of narcotics. Rev. Anderson of the CDO Church invites all to see this production.

Rev. William Turnwall, secretary of the board of Home Missions, for the Baptist General Conference, is in San Diego to teach in the training school for God's Invasion Army. Rev. Anderson will also be teaching in the school, which will last for six weeks. Following the school the young trainees give a year of their life in Christian work without remuneration.

—o—

Sunday will be the final day of the School of Missions at the First Baptist Church of Spring Valley, 8758 Troy St. At the 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. services, Rev. Roland Taylor has selected as his text, "The Quest for the Best." In the evening the services will start at 6:30 instead of the usual 7:30 p.m. services. This will eliminate the Training Fellowship. There will be a film "Challenge of Africa." A candle-light service will conclude the evening.

—o—

The Junior department of the Casa de Oro Baptist Sunday School will have a "Big Wild Animal Safari" party in the social hall Friday, from 5 to 7 p.m. Hosts will be the Sunday School teachers, the superintendent and the Jet Cadet counsellor. Rev. Anderson says it promises to be a wonderful party.

Paul Carlson, a missionary home on furlough from Mexico, will bring the message at the 11 a.m. Sunday services. At the 7 p.m. evening services there will be a special Youth Night service. The youth choir will lead the singing. Richard Smith of Van Nuys will bring a testimony and will play the organ, the piano and accordion. At the close of the services the Junior High, the High and College age groups will have a short time of fellowship and refreshments in the social hall.

God's Minute

REV. H. C. BAKKEN

Faith

Christian faith is to believe in Jesus Christ. However, simply to believe that He lived and died is not a living faith. A living faith believes and trusts in Christ alone for the forgiveness of sin and salvation.

Hansel and Gretel To Be Presented For Grove Kiddies

The Lemon Grove School District is offering a special program at the junior high school on Monday for pupils in the elementary grades. Classes will be suspended that day while teachers meet for their annual Professional Growth Day program.

A presentation of the opera, "Hansel and Gretel" by Engelbert Humperdinck by the Lyric Theater International, a New York group, is scheduled for three showings at 9 and 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale in each school this week. Because of limited seating, they will be sold on a first-come basis. No transportation will be furnished. Parents who wish to accompany children to the opera may purchase tickets for the same price as student tickets, 50 cents.

The opera, a shortened form, has been presented to schools in the East and in California for several years. The singing artists are from New York and Hollywood.

Arts Festival Set for Schools

Dates have been established for the third annual Fine Arts Festival to be presented by the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Music Coordinator Josephine Cunningham and Art Coordinator Florence Hord said the festival will be held in the La Mesa Fine Arts Center from March 28 to April 4.

Curriculum Director Boyd Lane, chairman of the planning committtee, said plans for the festival are being developed and that it will exhibit the finest art work of students from kindergarten through eighth grade and that it will allow an opportunity for student musical groups to perform. Day and evening programs are planned for the general public and for selected student groups.

The festival will be keyed also to in-service education for members of the school district's teaching staff, Lane said.

Camp Fire Girls Halfway Through 1960 Peanut Sale

Local Camp Fire Girls this week paused only long enough to get their "second wind" as they entered the second week of their annual peanut sale.

Early returns indicate that they are well on their way to realizing their county goal of 135,000 cans of peanuts at 50 cents each. The anticipated profit of $30,000 is sought for their capital building fund, to be used in remodeling or rebuilding summer camps.

"The cornerstone of the Camp Fire Girls' program is 'learning by doing'," said John Kelly, 7926 Longdale Dr., publicity chairman for the local area.

"In their summer camps and in other activities they develop the wholesome skills and character traits that are so important in the growing years. When the girls earn some of the money needed for camping facilities, they appreciate their camps all the more."

Representative Thomas E. Morgan (D.-Pa.):

"I am absolutely convinced that if we eliminate or drastically curtail the mutual security program, the loss of the cold war will be inevitable."

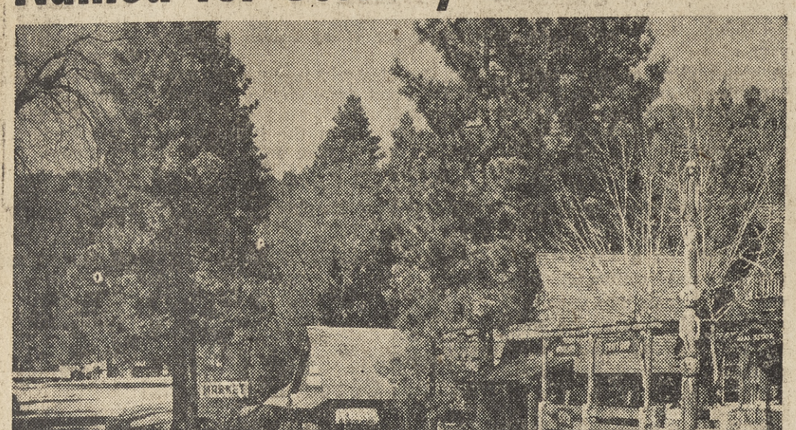
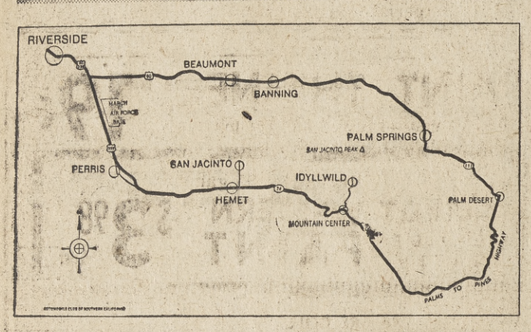
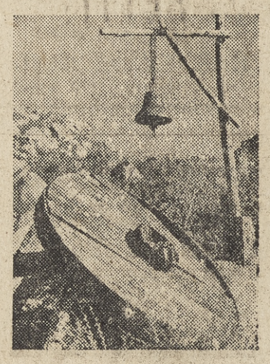
Palms to Pines Highway Named for Scenery Enroute





MOUNTAIN VILLAGE — Idyllwild, at foot of Mt. San Jacinto, is jumping-off point for picturesque tours through wild Tahquitz-San Jacinto areas.

COLORFUL SYMBOLS — Weathered carreta and old mission bell denote site of Ramona Bowl where Hemet and San Jacinto residents present Ramona Pageant each year.



City to Palm Springs, popular winter resort famous for its colorful canyons.

A route with a most intriguing name — The Palms to Pine Highway—provides the basis for a beautiful motor trip through orchard country, luxuriantly forested mountains and the desert with its mild winter weather.

Riverside, starting point of the tour, is still center of the rapidly-dwindling "Orange Empire." In and around town are the famed Mission Inn, with its collection of art objects and pioneer relics; the parent navel orange tree; Mt. Rubidoux, site of the annual Easter Sunrise Service; and one of many University of California campuses and its Citrus Experiment Station.

Further south on US 395 is March Air Force Base, 15th Air Force Headquarters. At Perris the route follows State 74, to pass through peach and apricot orchards to Hemet.

This is the starting point of the Palms to Pines Highway and home of "Ramona," dramatization of Helen Hunt Jackson's novel of early California which is presented in Ramona Bowl during the latter part of April and early May by citizens of Hemet and San Jacinto.

In the canyons leading into Hemet Valley can be found ancient Indian rock paintings and carvings. The area is also known for its hot springs.

From Mountain Center it is a five mile trip to Idyllwild, winter sports center in the San Jacinto Mountains. This is an excellent jumping-off place for auto or hiking tours, with hotel and motel accomodations, camping supplies, pack and saddle equipment and the campground in Mt. San Jacinto State Park.

High point of State 74 is at Santa Rosa Summit on the saddle which connects the San Jacinto and Santa Rosa ranges. From this point the road drops rapidly down to Palm Desert. State 111 takes the traveler through Cathedral

The return to Riverside is quickest over State 111 and US 60 through the cherry and almond orchards of Banning and Beaumont and the "Badlands" west of Beaumont.

This circle route, including the five-mile side trip to Idyllwild, covers 163 miles of well-maintained road.

Explorer Post 354 of the Casa de Oro and Homelands area plans a hike on Jan. 31 to the top of San Jacinto Mountain, near Idyllwild. Ed Gurling, Post advisor, and Herb Preston, assistant advisor, will take approximately 14 boys on the hike. The group has been preparing for quite a while for the high hike. Their recent outing in preparation was at Cuyamaca State Park, where it was about 8 degrees above zero. On that outing they used all dehydrated food. The boys have been to a class for the construction of new pack racks. The final day of planning for the San Jacinto hike will be Saturday. Preston said he expects the temperature at Jacinto to be about zero.

Cub Pack 329, with Jack Leezy as Cubmaster, had a campout at Borrego Springs Jan. 9-10. During an exploration into the interior of the state park it was discovered there are several "rock hounds" in the Pack; they came out with some fine specimens of rock.

Cubmaster Leezy said the Cubs who he has been instructing in the art of Indian dancing took advantage of displaying their talents right out in the open, and everyone had a thrill.

High School Teachers Also Writers

Some teachers in the Grossmont Union High School District are writers as well as teachers, and at least nine of them have books or articles published. The published material ranges from textbooks in use for some time to recently published articles in professional magazines.

Richard Dunlop of the Grossmont staff has just sold a musical comedy in one act named Chalkdust to Eldridge Play Publishers. This makes the third since summer. The others are An Overpraised Season and Four Bells Mean Glory, sold to Samuel French. Dunlop also has a three-act play making the rounds.

William Ramsey, Helix High School science teacher, is working on a textbook on modern earth science which will serve the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. It will be published by Henry Holt and they're shooting for a publication date late this year. Ramsey has also had an article in the January issue of the Journal of Lymnology and Oceanography. Clovis Hill, also of the Helix staff, had an article "Journalism In The Satellite Era" published in the November issue of Student and Publisher.

Ross Wallis, now a counselor at Helix and for a long time in the field of art teaching, wrote three books which are being used as texts in that area. Hobby Pottery, How It's Done came out in 1950 and two others on design preceded it. They were published by Leisurecrafts. Mrs. Wallis is also a writer, now at work on a biography of her great grandfather. The Wallises spent a summer recently in Foxcraft, Maine, where she did research for the book which is largely about the Civil War. Mrs. Wallis taught in the Grossmont District and is now working in the home study program serving students incapacited by accident or illness.

El Cajon Valley High School's biology teacher Edith Curry has two articles published in the American Nature Study Bulletin. Jack Lynch, of the El Cajon English department has written a play, the Easy Way, which has been produced locally, and his second one-act, Birds For The Captain, is entered in competition in La Mesa, next month. He has also just completed a three-act play which he plans to market.

Dr. Fred Tidwell, personnel director, was in the field of business education for some time and has written eight books used as texts. They include Tidwell-Stuart Typing, Correlated Transcription Studies, Audograph Secretarial Course, Clocked Practice Writings, Speed Typing, Tested Timed Writings, Legal Typing, and Tested Typing Drills.

Egg Variety Is Question For Poultrymen

What kind of eggs should the poultryman produce to give the consumer satisfaction, also to create a greater use of eggs?

San Diego County poultrymen have been faced with this question, and to assist them in the solution, Lynn Sanborn, Extension Marketing technologist of the University of California will discuss "Consumer Egg Quality Surveys," at the next meeting of the San Diego County Farm Bureau Poultry department. The meeting will be held at Palomar College, Room S-7, San Marcos, Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.

All poultrymen are invited to attend this meting, no reservations necessary.

Dr. Peter Shea Named Chairman Of Dental Week

Dr. Peter Shea, Lemon Grove dentist, has been named chairman for the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 7-13.

Plans are under way in this area to make Dental Health Week a community-wide event.

The week is sponsored annually throughout the nation by the American Dental Association. Local participation is sponsored by the San Diego County Dental Society.

Dr. Shea said San Diego County dentists take part in the event each year in an effort "to give parents the knowledge with which they can effectively combat the most prevalent disease of our time—tooth decay.

"Our younsgters are taught at school how to take proper care of their teeth," he added, "but this cannot lead to good dental habits unless parents follow through at home."

Some of the most important pointers, he said, are these:

Brush the teeth after every meal.

If a toothbrush isn't handy, rinse the mouth out thoroughly with water. But remember, a rinse is a poor substitute for a good brushing.

Give your children a good, well balanced diet. The same foods that keep a child healthy build sturdy teeth.

Help your child cultivate a taste for fruits, nuts and popcorn rather than sweets. The refined carbohydrates that are in sweet foods and drinks act almost instantly on the teeth and cause decay.

Avocado Industry Told to Take Look At More Varieties

The avocado industry in San Diego County has reached a stage in its development that requires a careful appraisal of the problem of varieties, states University of California farm advisor Don Gustafson. Many varieties are still being grown here which are not suitable for market, he said. Marketing organizations, he said, have a real problem handling these "odd-ball" varieties which increases their operation costs.

Varieties recommended for commercial production are: coastal area—Hass, coastal valleys—Fuerte and Hass; inland areas—Fuerte. The Hass is a summer variety, the season being from April to October. The Fuerte's season is November to May. For limited planting in cold areas, the Bacon and Zutano may be used. For experimental trials in the inland areas, the Rincon may be planted. Its season is April to June.

To help growers with their avocado variety problem, the University of California has published a pamphlet entitled "Avocado Varieties for California." A free copy may be obtained by writing to the Farm Advisor's Office, Bldg. 1, 4005 Rosecrans Street, San Diego 10.

Baby Crop is Large, Health Report Says

In 1959, San Diego County had its biggest baby crop in history.

Paralytic poliomyelitis showed a sharp rise in the county.

Heart disease remained the leading cause of death.

In spite of a rabies epidemic in neighboring Imperial County, San Diego County maintained its rabies-free record that began in 1954.

These public health highlights of 1959 in San Diego County were reported this week by the San Diego Department of Public Health.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said last year was the county's seventh consecutive year free of diphtheria, its thirteenth free of smallpox.

The incidence of streptococcal infections, whooping cough and mumps was well below the number of cases reported in 1958.

Measles cases ran higher, with 3,000 reported. This was far short of an epidemic year, however, which would bring 10,000 to 15,000 cases.

Tuberculosis cases reported in 1959 also ran slightly ahead of 1958, but lower than 1957.

Dr. Askew said a preliminary count of 1959 birth records for county residents indicates births will top the 25,000 mark for the first time in the county's history. He said an "educated guess" on the final count would be 25,500.

The ratio of births to deaths is about 3.8 births for every death, he said.

Although the final tabulations have not yet been made, Dr. Askew said it looks as though deaths of San Diego County residents in 1959 will hold about even with 1958. The anticipated total is 6,600.

Through the first ten months of the year these were the leading causes of death in order of the number of deaths they caused: heart disease; cancer; vascular lesions of the central nervous system; certain diseases of early infancy; accidents; pneumonia and influenza; congenital malformations; generalized arteriosclerosis; suicides; cirrhosis of the liver.

Dr. Askew said the provisional figures indicate a considerably lower death rate for the county than either the state or the nation reported in 1958. At the same time, he said, the county's birth rate in 1959 appears to be higher than that of the state or nation in 1958.

The high birth rate and low death rate are healthy signs, Dr. Askew said, and indicate that the county's overall population is younger than that of other parts of the country.

Poliomyelitis cases reported in San Diego County in 1959 were up sharply from 1958 but were well below the five-year median from 1954 through 1958. Dr. Askew reported a total of 34 polio cases and 6 deaths. He said 21 of the cases and three of the deaths occurred in the City of San Diego. National City had five cases and two deaths. Chula Vista had three cases of poliomyelitis with no fatalities. Three cases and one polio death occurred in El Cajon. Encinitas had two cases of polio with no fatalities.

"Polio statistics for the year still bear out the advisability of asking your doctor for a full series of Salk vaccine inoculations," Dr. Askew said. He reported that 19 of the county's polio cases and four of its polio deaths occurred in persons who had no inoculations. Three cases and one death occurred in persons who had two inoculations. No polio deaths occurred among persons who had had three or more inoculations.

Music Coordinator To Demonstrate New Teaching Aid

Mrs. Josephine Cunningham, music coordinator for the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District, has been selected from among several hundred classroom teachers in California to present a demonstration at the Ninth Annual Good Teaching Conference to be held Jan. 22 and 23 in Los Angeles.

Dr. David D. Pascoe Jr., assistant superintendent, said Mrs. Cunningham would give a demonstration on the use of tape recordings to enrich an elementary grade social studies unit. The materials incorporate music, poetry and art.

Four teachers from the district will also take part in the conference, including Henry Schulz, mathematics teacher at Spring Valley Junior High School.

"Responsibility for Excellence" is the theme for the conference. Mrs. Margaret Lemmer, Lemon Grove teacher and general chairman for the conference, said the two-day conference will include outstanding speakers and 20 discussion groups, all aimed at improving the quality of teaching in Southern California. She had particular praise for the work of Mrs. Cunningham and said she feels her presentation will add much to the goals of the conference.

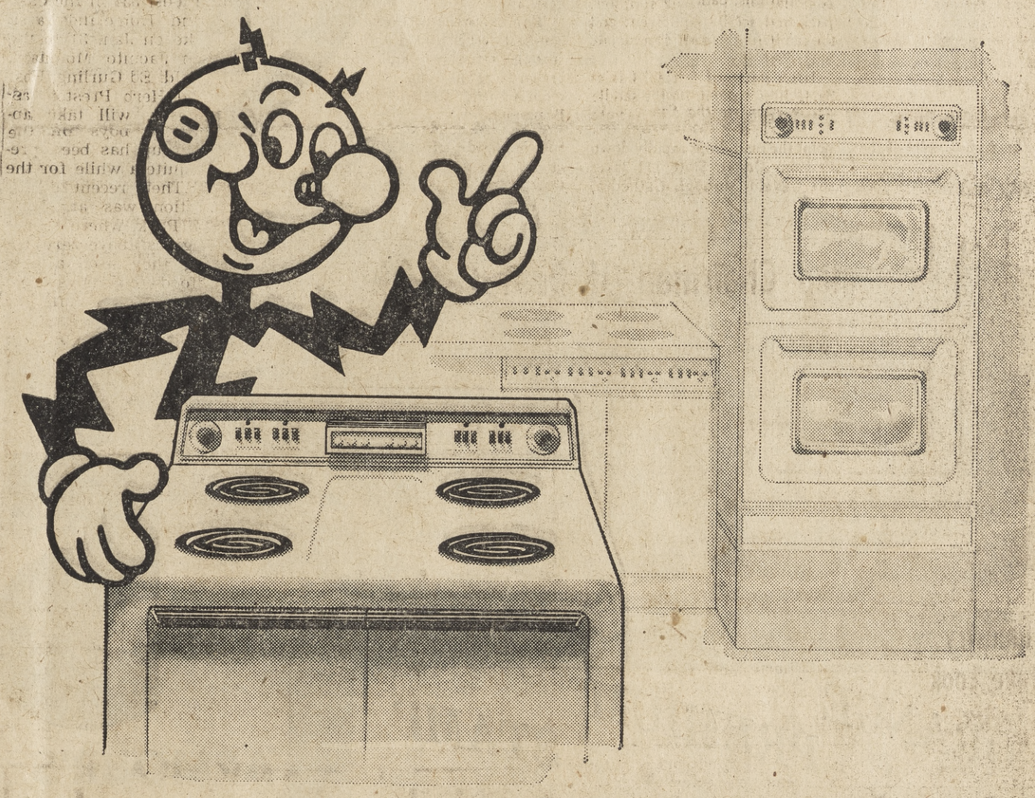
ELECTRIC COOKING



so Simple . . . so Smart . . . so Sure!

When you cook with electricity, you cook with ease . . . and you cook with confidence! A modern electric range—either free-standing or built-in—automatically helps you to guard against cooking failures. Temperature controls and timing devices make cooking a matter of set-it-and-forget-it.

See your dealer right away. Start enjoying clean, cool, quick electric cooking. And investigate, too, the advantages of a big, new electric water heater. Remember, an electric water heater can be installed easily and economically in any convenient location, because it requires no flue or vent.

L. G. Review Jan. 21, 28, Feb. 4, 11

It is about time to set out young fruit trees. I have a nurseryman friend who tells me that he loses very few young trees if he takes the trouble to treat the soil as he plants them with an ether emulsion dichlorethyl-ether to destroy borers in the soil.

Since most species of borers hibernate in the soil during the winter, the young larvae are voracious and hungry and young newly planted fruit trees are delicious tidbits for them.

The use of this ether emulsion destroys the borers in the soil without doing any injury to the fruit trees. You can easily use this ether emulsion yourself, diluting and pouring it into the soil after you've given your young trees their first watering. An 8-ounce bottle will treat one half dozen young trees.

It is an excellent practice to use this borer control around other fruit and shade trees at this time of year because borers are a "hidden enemy" that menace trees and shrubs throughout this entire area.

—o—

Grape vines should be pruned at this time of year just the same as deciduous fruit trees . . . such as apricots, prunes, peaches, plums, nectarines . . . all except cherries . . . but you may not know that spraying your grape vines with a lime-sulphur-oil emulsion, just the same as you do your deciduous fruit trees, is of tremendous value in preventing many diseases to which grapes are especially susceptible.

This is an important time of year in your garden. It is the time when you can prevent, with very little effort, many troubles that would require a great deal of effort to correct if you let them go unchecked.

Leaf curl is a great evil on peach trees. Spraying them just when you begin to see the first flush of pink on the bud structure is important. Use the lime-sulphur-oil emulsion which I know to be the first decisive step in checking this even before it gets a start.

LAW IN ACTION

ADVOCACY

In old Greece each accused person such as Socrates had to come before the jury himself to plead his case. This was tough if he didn't know the art of advocacy.

He was assumed to be guilty.

Had Socrates taken independent advice would he have offended the boisterous and biased Athenian jury, which sentenced him to the hemlock there on the hillside in 399 B.C.?

Many think not: Less outspoken defendants in those days got under the counter legal advice and coaching in the ways of swaying the jury.

Antiphon (415 B.C.) ghostwrote and sold briefs to clients who faced that jury. He set out four steps of an Athenian trial: (1) the accuser's charge, (2) the accused's reply, (3) the accuser's reply, and (4) the accused's response.

After these steps the jury either let the accused off or found him guilty. The jury sentenced the guilty on the spot allowing some—Socrates, for one—to propose their own penalties, and even to bid the punishment upward if the jury was not pleased.

After the trial, the speakers (or in Socrates' case, his friend Plato) often worked their talks over, and sent them out for friends to admire or criticize.

What appeals did the rhetoritians find that would win the jury over? The same ones we hear today.

Aristotle listed a few: The values the jurors shared with the speaker—reverence for justice, the law, and the city's founding fathers; the sanctity of the juryman's oath, the verdict's effect upon public and foreign opinion and sometimes upon women and youth.

The later Romans realized that an accused person might be unjustly found guilty simply because he did not know how to speak in public. So they encouraged litigants and accused persons to have well qualified advocates represent them.

In this country the constitution gives you your day in court and the right to counsel. For your lawyer to speak up well for you in court, he must know all about your case. So under the law, no court can harm you by making him talk about what you told him.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.
